We, Masitek Instruments Inc., Moncton, Canada herewith confirm that we have experienced a very trustful and productive partnership with Dr. Andreas from Brau Consult BCW GmbH, Germany. Dr. Weideneder was one of our Business Development Managers responsible for our German business development, whose responsibility it was to explore potential partnerships and develop and grow our business through various activities. These activities included sales, product marketing & management, strategic approaches to key accounts like bottlers or OEM, institutions, universities etc. during December 2016 - September 2018.

Due to his origin from a German brewery and his impressive Curriculum Vitae, Dr. Weideneder has the experience and respect within the industry that is necessary for this level of technology to be introduced in a new market. For example, he was responsible for the introduction of the Masitek sensors to the largest manufacturer of brewing equipment in the world, and now one of our major strategic clients in the OEM space. He was also successful in introducing the technology to various other named and important multi-national clients. Through his activities Masitek Instruments improved its market visibility, reputation, and acceptance in the German market

It was always very nice for our whole team to work together with him, and we can confirm his professional, accurate, well organized, and trustworthy way of doing business with respect to client approaches, presentations, client visits, and exhibitions like DRINCTEC. He is a great team worker and has earned the respect of our team.

We are very grateful for the work that Dr. Weideneder did for Masitek, we hope that he is very successful with his new business field, and the team wishes him all the best for his future.

Respectfully,

Tracy Clinch, CEO
